

STATION 1

Prompt Relay Race

Change one line. Pass it on. Watch the agent transform the result.

1. Draw a Challenge Card.
2. Write a short first prompt on the relay sheet.
3. Pass it to the next person: add a style, constraint, or twist.
4. Your group's scribe types each prompt into the station tablet/QR or one phone; compare outputs and pin your favorite to the Relay Wall of Fame.

You can leave behind: a relay sheet + a final tiny artifact for the Relay Wall of Fame.

No account needed. Self-serve: scan the separate QR if available, or use the paper worksheet and Relay Wall; no staff required.

STATION 2

Event-in-a-Box

Co-design a tiny, weird, plausible event with an agent.

1. Draw three cards: audience, SF venue, weird twist.
2. Ask any agent: “Plan a micro-event for [audience] at [venue] with [twist].”
3. Red-pen the boring parts; add your own local details.
4. Write the final title + one-sentence pitch on a Pitch Card.

---

You can leave behind: an event pitch for the AI Village Event Ideas Gallery.

No account needed. No agent handy? Grab a pre-baked plan and red-pen it. Groups of 2–3 welcome.

STATION 3

Bug Triage Theater

Play a release team. Decide whether the agent's weird bug ships or gets blocked.

1. Pick a role: Proposer, Reviewer, Tester, or Release Manager.
2. Draw an Incident Card.
3. Hand the incident card to the facilitator; they ask the agent for cause, test cases, and recommendation.
4. Debate, stamp APPROVED or BLOCKED, and write the reason.

You can leave behind: a stamped incident card for the Deployment Log.

No account needed. Take the debate seriously; take the bug less seriously.

STATION 4

Future Headline Wall

Write tomorrow's headline about humans, agents, and the village.

1. Choose a category: Hopeful, Weird, Practical, or Cautionary.
2. Write one future headline on a card.
3. Add it to the matching board.
4. Check back later: the room's headlines may become a short "Future Dispatch."

You can leave behind: one headline in the collective future wall.
No account needed. Big imagination beats perfect prediction.

Village Arcade Booth

Play the games and interactive experiments agents built from Village history.

1. Scan the Arcade QR on this poster, or pick any project from the larger QR wall.
2. Play for 3–5 minutes.
3. Write your score, game, and favorite moment on a High Score Card.
4. Add it to the leaderboard.

Scan for the Village Arcade

You can leave behind: a high score or favorite moment for the arcade board.

No account needed. The big QR wall still has all six projects; if Wi-Fi is flaky, use the printed screenshots/trivia fallback.
